Question 4:

Greetings

Compliments of the season to you.

I write to inquire if we qualify to participate for the “Call for expression of Interest – CEBSO East Africa” based on our services below:

We are Kenya-based firm dedicated to supporting international businesses with market entry, relocation, and strategic mobility services across 10 African countries.

Founded in 2009 and rebranded in 2017, the company partners with global companies to relocate teams, manage immigration logistics, and establish operations in diverse African markets. From multinationals to regional innovators, we design mobility programs that align with each client’s strategy and values ensuring a seamless and impactful presence across the continent.

We would welcome the opportunity to explore potential areas of collaboration in:

- Ethical Mobility: Immigration logistics support and responsible relocation services.
- Business Market Entry & Investment: Strategic support for entering and investing in African markets

Thank you for your question.

Please kindly note that we cannot assess whether a specific organisation meets the admissibility criteria prior to the evaluation process, which will take place after the deadline of the call.

We kindly invite interested applicants to refer to the admissibility criteria outlined in section 3.1 of the guidelines which can be downloaded here, to assess whether they qualify for the call for expressions of interest. For-profit entities are not eligible.

Kind regards,

Question 5:

Dear Enabel team,

1 The EOI indicates that an admissibility criterion requires applicant organizations to qualify as a Business Support Organization (BSO) and to demonstrate, through their statutes or articles of association, that business development service (BDS) delivery is among the primary objectives of the entity. Our organization was established through a multilateral charter by the Governments of Kenya, Uganda, and Tanzania as a non-profit international organization. The charter mandates the organization to provide advisory services, within which business development services are explicitly embedded, and the organization has continuously implemented BDS programs across East Africa since its inception. Could you kindly clarify whether an organization established through an intergovernmental charter where advisory services (including BDS) are mandated, but not itemized as a standalone objective meets the admissibility requirements of a Business Support Organization under this EOI?

2 In assessing admissibility, would the evaluation consider institutional mandate combined with demonstrated implementation history, such as long-standing delivery of enterprise development, advisory, and business support services across multiple countries, as sufficient evidence of BSO status, even where the founding charter is framed at a broader advisory or capacity-development level?

3 In cases where the founding legal instrument is a charter rather than articles of association, would it be acceptable to complement the charter with program documentation, strategic plans, or historical implementation evidence to demonstrate compliance with the requirement that BDS delivery forms part of the organization's primary objectives?

Regards,

Response:

Dear,

Thank you for your message and for your interest in the call.

Please note that, unfortunately, we cannot assess or confirm whether a specific organisation meets the admissibility criteria prior to the formal evaluation process, which will take place only after the submission deadline.

The assessment of admissibility will be conducted solely on the basis of the information and supporting documents submitted as part of the application. In this context, applicants are expected to clearly demonstrate, through their legal and institutional documentation, that they meet the admissibility criteria outlined in the guidelines under Section 3.1.

Kind regards,

Question 6:

Good afternoon,

We operate as an Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) Scheme, overseeing the life cycle management of post-consumer packaging materials across plastics, paper, glass, metal, and multi-layered packaging. To strengthen the waste value chain, we have piloted digital solutions leveraging ICT, and further advanced the recycling ecosystem by establishing direct market linkages within the waste business value chain.

1. Do these solutions fall under the ICT & Electronics sector (and does this classification cover systems and solutions, or only hardware)?
2. What is encompassed by the category “Other” in the list of key sectors served by an organization?

Regards

Response:

Dear,

Thank you for your question.

Please find below our clarifications:

1. Based on the information provided, the digital solutions appear as a cross-cutting enabler used to optimise your primary sector of activity, rather than a sector of activity themselves. For clarification, the ICT & Electronics sector covers all stages in the lifecycle of Electronic and ICT products, including hardware and systems, from design and manufacturing to distribution, use, and end-of-life management.
2. “Other” refers to any sector of activity that does not fall under the following key sectors: Critical raw materials, Bio-based materials, Electronics & ICT, Batteries, Machinery and equipment, and Buildings and construction. Applicants are therefore free to specify the sector(s) in which their organization is primarily active.

I hope this clarifies your questions.

Kind regards,

Question 7:

Good Morning.

Please clarify. Annex C is titled as Annex D in the document title.

Response:

Dear,

Thank you for bringing this to our attention.

We have replaced Annex C with the corrected document titled “Erratum_Annex-C” on the Enabel website (https://www.enabel.be/grants/?in_country=1295&is_status=all#grants) as well as on the Submit Enabel platform (Question 1): <https://submit.link/4nl>.

Applicants who have already submitted their application using the original Annex C will not be required to resubmit the corrected version.

Kind regards,

Question 8:

I have read the expression of interest and we would like to apply. Our company just registered in Kenya late last Year. My partner and I have been operating independently with our skills cutting across the sectors of interest. My question to you is as follows;

1. We do not have audited financials as we recently registered the company. We consider ourselves a business Support organization and have been in discussion with local county governments in an effort to support solid waste management as well as energy infrastructure support.

Kindly advise if we can proceed with the application in the absence of the financial statement for the last 3 years.

Response:

Dear,

Thank you for your question.

Question 9:

Dear Team,

My question are:

1. Can an entity that is just slightly under 3 years apply?
2. Can a profit-making ESO apply for the grant?

Response:

Dear,

Thank you for your question.

Unfortunately, applicants need to comply with all the admissibility criteria outlined in section 3.1 of the guidelines to be eligible for this call for expressions of interest.

Kind regards,

Question 10:

I am requesting clarification on the eligibility of the University as a Circular Economy Business Support Organization (CEBSO).

The University has incubation activities for enterprises. At the Business School, the Hub of Excellence in Logistics, Supply Chain and Circular Economy-Africa provides tailored support to circular businesses through advisory (including mentorship to businesses in recycling, aggregation and waste picking) advocacy (bringing together ecosystem players in support of businesses in circular economy), consultancy services and capacity building in the circular economy series with a newly launched Extended Producer Responsibility program for business and supply chain sustainability with an advisory and business support element.

Please clarify if we meet the eligibility criteria.

Response:

Dear,

Thank you for your message and for your interest in the call.

Please note that, unfortunately, we cannot assess or confirm whether a specific organisation meets the admissibility criteria prior to the formal evaluation process, which will take place only after the submission deadline.
